The Novel: Language and Narrative from Cervantes to Calvino (Hardback)

By Andre Brink

New York University Press, United States, 1998. Hardback. Book Condition: New. 221 x 143 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . The novel, Brink argues, is not about representation but the self-conscious play of language. From its inception, he suggests, the genre has been about the act of writing and self-reflection. This thesis is not new but is part of the currency of postmodern literary theory. Brink, himself a noted South African novelist, the author of some 12 books, including A Dry White Season (1984), and a university professor, brings the insight of an insider. He surveys 15 celebrated novels, historically arranged from Don Quixote and La Princesse de Cleves to A.S. Byatt's Possession and Italo Calvino's If on a Winter Night a Traveller examining each in terms of its play with writing and language. His discussions are marked by clarity, insight, and comprehension. A valuable book. --Thomas L. Cooksey, Library Journal What a treat to explore the novel as a genre through the lucid eyes of Andre Brink, himself one of the world's foremost novelists! I particularly enjoyed the way in which the most traditional novels were revealed as contemporary and...
