It has been prepared with a view to perpetuate the lessons which the services unfolded; to secure to the congregation the wholesome stimulus which a study of its historic past may be well calculated to yield; but with the hope also of redeeming what is worthy of a wider interest from being merely congregational. Although the Old Trappe Church is objectively the property of a specific congregation, it is in no indefinite sense the heritage of the Lutheran Church; because that of which it is the monumental exponent cannot be confined to a merely local interest. It witnesses not merely to the founding of a separate congregation, but in a large sense to the planting of the Lutheran Church in America; it witnesses not only to the heroic labors of a certain pastor, but to the consecration and self-sacrifice of the Patriarch of the Lutheran Church in America. The Sesqui-Centennial of this venerable temple, therefore, while relating immediately to a circumscribed sphere, can be justly interpreted as memorial not simply of a Lutheran Church, but of the Lutheran Church. In preparing this concise history I have met with two embarrassments - fecundity and barrenness. The superabundant material covering the earliest period is only rendered embarrassing for a well-proportioned history by the barrenness of records touching some later periods. Muhlenberg's beautifully conducted records should have served as an excellent model for all succeeding scribes, but...
